TO MAKE A HOT FIGHT.

LOCAL REPUBLICAN ENTHUSIASM GROWING. CONGRATULATIONS AND PROMISES OF HEARTY

SUPPORT POURING IN UPON COLONEL ERHARDT-WHAT CITY LEADERS

Like all the other nominations made by the Republicans this year, that of Joel B. Erhardt for Mayor is one which grows in popularity. Within the first twenty-four hours after it was made a perfect flood of messages commending and indorsing it reached the Republican County headquarters, in West Twenty-fifth-st.

"It is very encouraging," said Secretary Bellamy, last evening, " to find that Colonel Erhardt's nomination meets with such cordial approval, and the enthusiasm with which it is received seems to increase as the hours roll by. Republicans of all shades and kinds have been here today to say that they are pleased with it and the whole ticket. Many of these are men who have taken no interest in local polities for years. Every mail delivery brings letters from all quarters of the city, and from Republicans temporarily out of town, expressing satisfaction and predicting success"

"Erhardt's nomination," said A. R. Whitney last evening, " is exactly like Harrison's and Miller's have been; that is, people like it better the more they think of it. Several of my friends expressed disappointment that night when the selection was announced. They wanted somehody in the dry-goods trade or in the shipping business who never had held an office. day all of these men have been around to say that they are satisfied that it is all right, and couldn't be better. 'There is nothing the matter with Joel Erhardt,' and he is going to be elected." Colonel Cruser said: "I have seen at least 100 Republicans to-day who have expressed an enthusiastic determination to go to work for the ticket nominated last night. It was not put in the field to be traded upon but to

Elihu Root, Sheridan Shook, Edward Mitchell, Colonel James M. Varnum and other well-known Republicans gave similar testimony as to the way in which Colonel Erhardt's nomination had been received among their friends and acquaint-

The veterans of the Grand Army of the Republie regard the ticket with sentiments of warm approval. The choice of such prominent Grand Army men as John W. Jacobus, Henry C. Perley, James T. Van Rensselaer and John R. Nugent is especially agreeable to the old soldiers. General Barnum said yesterday: "It is emphatically a soldiers' ticket and admirably supplements the nominations of Harrison, Miller, and Cruger. It will receive the undivided support of the veterans of the westerns."

Police Commissioner Stephen B. French is a walking thermometer among politicians, and his face tells his friends whether he feels hopeful or despondent. No lukewarm Republican could have been in Mr. French's presence long yesterday without catching enthusiasm for the local candidates of his party. "There never has been so good an opportunity for the election of a Republican county ticket." Mr. French said. "We have first-class candidates and are united in their support, at a time when the Democrats are divided and are wrangling over their failure to unite. Our candidate for Mayor is worthy of the support of all Republicans. As Police Commissioner and as United States Marshal, Mr. Erhardt showed that he placed the welfare of the city above all personal or partisan considerations. He is a man fully abreast of Mayor Hewitt in independence and integrity, and no man living is better intermed regarding the needs of a good local government. The Republicans who helped to elect Mayor Hewitt have no Henry George bugbear to frighten them away from the support of their own candidate this year. Sheriff Grant, if elected, would make a safe Mayor of whom New-Yorkers would not need to be ashamed. With men like Erhardt, Hewitt and Grant in the field and Coogan as good as out of the race, it is a time for Republicans to stand together and be counted. There hardly will be any use of Republican efforts for success against the great Democratic vote in this city if they cannot succeed on such a favorable occasion as the present." of the war."
Police Commissioner Stephen B. French is

cannot succeed on such a lavorable occasion as the present."

Colonel Erhardt was seen at his home, No. 110 West Fifty-fifth-st. He was in his usual robust health and in high spirits. If physical superfority is to count in this canvass, Colonel Erhardt might tensily overcome his competitors, either singly or in pairs. He said: "I am just starting for a day or two of rest on Long Island. I have already received hundreds of congratulatory messages by telegraph and mail, from Democrats as well as Republicans, and some of the letters contained checks to aid in my campaign expenses. I am pleased with the way in which my nomination has been received on all sides, and am determined has been received on all sides, and am determined has been received there from Mr. Croker. has been received on all sides, and am determined that whatever the result may be, it shall not be said that I have been lukewarm or inactive. I shall return on Monday, take off my coat and go into the fight with whatever of zeal and purpose I may possess. I believe that we are going to win this year in Nation. State and City. All we need is confidence in ourselves."

I may possess. I believe that we are going to win this year in Nation, State and City. All we need is confidence in ourselves."

Among those who sent messages of encouragement to Mr. Erhardt were Chauncey M. Depew. Cornelius N. Bliss, John H. Starin, John F. Plummer, H. K. Thurber, Thomas C. Platt. Howard Carroll, Colonel Cruger, Ernest H. Crosby, Robert Ray Hamilton, Cornelius Van Cott, E. H. Ammidown and General Henry A. Barnum. Mr. Erhardt said that among the communitations were several from Republicans who had been favorable to Mayor Hewitt's re-election, but now declare their purpose to support the Republican nominations.

Now that the Mayoralty nominations have been settled, the National, State and County Committees are putting the finishing touches on their eampaign work. A close canvass of this city shows that General Harrison's vote will reach at least 100,000, and the local managers argue that if this vote is east for Mr. Erhardt his election is assured. The general impression among the various committeemen is that both the State and National tickets have been strengthened by the nominations of Thursday night. John W. Jacobus, the nominee for Sheriff, is confident that he will be elected. He is extremely popular, especially among the working classes. At any rate, he has gone into the fight with the idea of making a winning contest. He said yesterday that he would not relax his efforts uptil after the polls are closed on election day.

MR. HEWITT AND COMMISSIONER TAMSEN.

MR. HEWITT AND COMMISSIONER TAMSEN A LIVELY INTERVIEW BETWEEN THEM WHICH

One of the influential Germans in the city who is dissatisfied with the course of Mr. Hewitt is School Commissioner Edward J. H. Tamsen. He is associated with the County Democracy and is a personal friend of Oswald Ottendorfer, Editor of the "Staats-Zeitung."

Mr. Tamsen has been a warm admirer of Mr. Hewitt, and at first remonstrated with Mr. Ottendorfer for his opposition to the renomination of the Mayor. When the County Democracy was preparing its city and county ticket, Mr. Tamsen was asked if he would take the nomination for County Clerk. He had almost consented to accept it when, on con-surfaction with some of his friends, he stated that he would not take the nomination until he had talked with Mayor Hewitt, who was to lead the tion after a full consideration of the situation. It was represented to him that Mr. Hewitt intended to take so strong a stand in regard to foreigners that he would give offence to a great body of the Germans of the city, and thereby endanger the entire county ticket. Mr. Tamsen's name as a represent ative German was wanted to strengthen the ticket, but his friends urged him not to make th race when the chances were against him. He had conference with Mayor Hewitt, and the result was that he declined to have his name presented at the epovention, and James Daly was nominated. These circumstances were related by a friend of Mr. Tamsen's who was present at the interview with Mayor Hewitt, in the Mayor's office. The interview was a characteristic one. Mr. Hewitt was in one of his erratic moods, but he received Commissioner Tamsen

"Well, what do you want me to do for you?" he said, abruptly.

"I don't want you to do anything for me, Mr. Hewitt," replied Mr. Tamsen. "My friends wish to place me in nomination on the same ticket you, and I came to ask some advice of you and get some ideas from you before I consented. The Gerpan people of New-York, I think, as a rule, like you inistration, but there is a fear that you would endanger the entire ticket." "That is in regard to naturalization," said the Mayor. "You don't want me to say that I think Germans and other foreigners ought to live in this country twenty-one years before they are naturalized?" "Yes, that is one thing. You are a liberal and broad-thinking man, Mr. Hewitt, and the Germans know that and admire you for it, but there is no use in making a crusade against the people who are your friends and throwing up in their faces the fact that they are foreigners. I only say this as a humble suggestion. I would not attempt to do—" "Well!" exclaimed Mr. Hewitt, impatiently. "What I have said is true, and if I believe it, do you want me to take it back? How can I unsay what I have said and believe? "I don't ask you to do anything." Mr. Tamser tinued, "but I cannot afford to go on any ticket which will give offence to my friends by the expressions of the leader of that ticket. I hoped that you might be prevailed upon to modify some of your expressions, if not your views—"

"I will modify nothing!" the Mayor exclaimed loudly, springing from his seat. "I have said what You know it and the people know it.

will modify nothing." tones had become so loud that they were heard all over the office and attracted the attention of other visitors present, toward whom the Mayor turned. This angered Mr. Tamsen, who also arose, and as soon as he was able interrupted the Mayor, who was continuing, with much vehemence:

"Mr. Mayor, I did not suppose you were addressing a public audience when I came to see you dressing a public audience when I came personally."

"The people know just what I think on this subject and they will support me," repeated Mr. Hewitt in the same tone.

"If that is the way you think about it, all right, and good morning." Mr. Tamsen replied, taking up his hat and leaving the room greatly offended.

This is the reason why Mr. Tamsen's friends say that a German was not placed on the Hewitt ticket for County Clerk. Mr. Tamsen's estimate of Mr. Hewitt is not so high as it was, and he agrees with the "Staats-Zeitung" that he will lose a great deal of the German support in the city from his utterances concerning naturalized citizens.

SQUABBLING DEMOCRATIC FACTIONS. THE MAYORALTY NOMINATION FIGHT FULL OF

The resentful animosities which have been going on between the two wings of the Democracy over the Mayoralty nominations particularly show no signs of abatement. Thi fight proceeds with apparently increasing bitterness, and although occasional rumors of compromise filt about they have the acrimonious thrusts which appear in the organs of the opposing factions. Yesterday "The World twitted "the independent Mr. Hewlit" about the political "assessment that he will have to pay his man, Boss Power, the chief agent of that wonderful political machine known as the County Democracy." It also makes conspicuous the Mayor'a expressed dislike of Mr. Cleveland, saying:

As a disappointed candidate for President Mr. Abram S. Hewitt naturally dislikes Grover Cleveland. He has time and again expressed his hatred and contempt. He has forced his candidacy for Mayor in this city because he is absolutely indifferent his candidacy for Mayor in this city because he is absolutely indifferent to the fate of the Democratic National ticket. In fact there is no reason to believe that he would not rejoice over the defeat of Mr. Cleveland.

The "Staits-Zeitung" followed up its attack of Thursday upon Mr. Hewitt with further evidences of its zest for the fight in progress in yesterday's edition. Among other things it says of the Mayor;

He will find that the capacitical different will be the

Hon. Among other things it says of the Mayor;
He will find that the naturalized citizens will let him feel on election day that they do not care to be ignored by him. If Mr. Hewitt did not suffer from an excessive degree of over-estimation, he should know that the Mayor cannot do everything, and that the Mayor, even Abram S. Hewitt, cannot revolutionize the City Government. So far as Mr. Grant is concerned, he expresses his readiness to retire in favor of a man who can get around him all the Democratic and Independent voters, and whose election would not jeopardize the election of Cleveland, but as Mr. Hewitt insists upon remaining in the field, such an eventuality will not occur for Mr. Grant

"The Evening Sun" yesterday contained a report that Mr. Croker was anxious to come to an under standing with his opponents of the County Democracy and gives this morsel regarding the troubles existing within Tammany Hall as among the reasons for the within Tammany Hall as among the reasons for the "Boss's" newly born desire for harmony:

Croker, it is said, is willing to accede, and the cause of his discomfort is laid at the door of Joseph J. O'Donohue, who threatens to publish all of Croker's letters to him should Croker persist in forcing Grant upon the public.

HE COULD NOT ASSOCIATE WITH MR. HEWITT. Ex-Assemblyman George H. McAdam sent a letter yesterday to Thomas Costigan, County Democracy leader of the XVth District, resigning his membership in that organization on account of the differences which exist between his views and Mayor Hewitt's. Mr. McAdam writes:

Mr. Hewitt thinks that his own election is of more importance than the election of Grover Cleveland. The County Democracy organization seems to agree with him

County Democracy organization seems to agree with him in this view, as their resolutions in convention contain no reference whatever to the foremost issue of the National campaign, tariff reform, and only a meaningless paragraph on trusts, in which the use of the word "trusts is studiously avoided.

This omission was undoubtedly intentional. The committee did not wish to hurt the feelings of the Republicans who might be disposed to vote for Mr. Hewitt through sympathy with his Know-Nothing ideas, but who are unfriendly to Cleveland and tariff reform. In the XIth Congress District the County Democracy organization congress District the County Democracy organization can determined to renominate Colonel Merriman in the face of his opposition to the Administration on the vital issue of tariff reform. Here again Republican aid is expected and invoked.

THE GENESEE TEMPERANCE RESOLUTION. Buffalo, Oct. 12 (Special).—The following letter was written to-day by the pastor of the Glenwood Avenue Methodist Church to the Editor of "The Buffalo Express":

My attention has been called to an editorial in one of the city papers, in which an attempt is evidently made to use for political purposes the recent temperance resolution of the Genesse Methodist Episcopal Conference. As one of the committee, and on behalf of all the rest, I desire to disclaim any such intention. Moreover, the language in question, which is supposed to hit the Hon. Warner Miller squarely across the head," was written by myself. Now, I am too strong a friend of the honorable gentleman and too anxious for his election and have too strong a sense of what is becoming in a Christian gentleman to make use of language which would impeach the private judgment, or which unless distorted, can be made use of for any partisan purpose. Respectfully yours, torted, can be made use of ... Respectfully yours,

SENATOR HISCOCK AT MIDDLETOWN.

Middletown, N. Y., Oct. 12 (Special).—Senator His-cock addressed an enthusiastic meeting this evening cock addressed an enhusiastic meeting this evening at the Casino. He riddied the Mills bill and explained the Senate bill policy, which was to nourish and strengthen the industries of the country. He would welcome every intelligent foreign mechanic or laborer who wanted a home among us, but was opposed to his labor coming across the water in dry-goods boxes to the detriment of American manufacturers. boxes to the detriment of American manufacturers He believed that Harrison and Miller would come down to the Harlem Bridge with a sufficient majority that fraud, false counting and double voting would not wrest from them the victory. The Senator spoke for nearly two hours. He took the night train for Horseheads, where he speaks te-merrow afternoon, and at Elmira in the evening.

HEAVY ELECTION WAGERS IN PHILADELPHIA Philadelphia, Oct. 12 (Special).-In this city to-day James Flaherty, of Atlantic City, bet $5,000 even with Charles Seger, of the California Bank Exchange, that Cleveland would be elected. Seger also bet $1,000 with Charles Ridgway, of the Ridgway House, and $1,000 with George Gildemeyer, a hardware merchant, on Harrison. He has still $3,000 of the $10,000 placed with him to be wagered upon Harrison, and says that after that is taken there will be $10,000 more awaiting acceptance. James Christie, a commission wool merchant, wants to bet $2,000 even with anybody that Harrison and Morton will be elected. Thus far no one has accepted this offer.

DAMAGE BY A PROHIBITION CANNON.

Middletown, N. Y., Oct. 12.—The Prohibitionists of Orange County, held a mass convention here last night. There was a torchlight procession preceding the meeting in the Castno. A brass cannon brought from Cornwall was fired along the route, and caused much damage to plate-glass windows. The paner broken number several hundreds. A daughter of Peter Lefever was entering the Second Presbyterian Church prayer-meeting, when the noise of the cannot and of falling glass sent her into convulsions. Adam W. Jager, of Cornwall, captain of the gun squad, was arrested on complaint of the merchants whose

TO INSURE REPUBLICAN SUCCESS. A GREAT RALLY OF INSURANCE MEN TO THE

> SUPPORT OF HARRISON, MORTON AND PROTECTION.

About three hundred insurance men met yesterday at No. 324 Broadway for the purpose of completing their political organization, which for the last few weeks has been in process of formation. The title of the new body is the Insurance Men's Harrison and Morton Campaign Club, and the permanent headquarters will be at No. 32 Liberty-st. At the head of the organization is George P. Sheldon, president of the Phenix Insurance Company, with Ellot McCor-mick for secretary in chief and W. D. Gleason as treasurer. W. De I. Boughton called the meeting to order in the club room of the Republican Dry-Goods men, lent for the occasion, as no other room large enough could be secured downtown, and introduced George M. Coit, who presented the report of the committee having in charge the nomination of perma-nent officers. The following, all of whom are officers, managers or local agents of insurance companies rep-resented in this city, together with a few of the most prominent brokers and adjusters, constitute the 100 rice-presidents of the club, no two of whom represent the same company

Yesterday's demonstration was of the liveliest character throughout. Popular campaign songs were sung with good effect and Mr. Sheldon on rising to deliver his brief opening address was received with a roar of enthusiastic welcome, and his remark that the writing on the wall was clear and distinct-all too clear and distinct for Grover Cleveland-evoked a shout of approval. E. R. Kennedy, of the Liberty Insurance Company, scored a distinct hit in his elever adeption of Mr. Cleveland's aphorism that "a condition, not a theory, confronts us." "The condition, said No Kennedy, "is that the solid south having been whipped by Grant, Sherman, Harrison and Grozer's substitute, is trying to obtain in the lower house of Congress that which they failed to win in honorable battle." Mention of Harrison and Morton was followed by round upon round of cheers, and at the close of the meeting a large number of subscriptions in support of the club were handed to the Fire, marine, life and accident insurance all have their fair quota of representatives in the body, many of whom are members of the Union League and other well-known clubs. "We intend to duplicate among insurance men the work of the Wholesale Republican Dry-Goods Club in their district," said F. H. Parson, chairman of the Executive Committee, to a Tribune reporter last right.

MORRIS COUNTY REPUBLICANS ACTIVE. Lyceum Hall in Morristown, N. J., was crowded last evening to hear Colonel William M. Grosvenor, of Englewood, who spoke under the auspices of the Young Men's Republican Club. President Marsh presided and the New-York Dry-Goods Glee Club sang a number of campaign songs. Colonel Grosvenor spoke of American homes, American people and pro spoke of American industries. He reviewed the tection to American industries. He reviewed the policy of Great Britain, which Mr. Cleveland indorses and which was in accord with the presen policy of the Democratic party. The large number of former Democrats was noticeable. The Morris County Republicans are awake and working hard for protection is a question of vital interest to them.

WILL MR. SHAFER'S SUPPORT ADD STRENGTH Ira Shafer writes a letter to The Tribune stating that the published report that he is opposed to the re-election of Governor Hill is entirely incorrect. He dd refuse to occupy a front seat on the stage at a Hill mass-meeting, but the true reason was not that he was opposed to Governor Hill, but that he could not sit in that exposed place on account of a cold. He adds that he is warmly in favor of the Covernor's re-election and has done and will do everything in his power to secure that result. Those who-remember Mr. Shafer's choleric outbursts during the "boodle" trials and the fracas in which he became involved some time ago at the Manhattan Club with a fellow-member will doubt whether Mr. Shafer's support of the Governor will add largely to the prospects of Mr. Hill's re-election.

A VALUABLE RECRUIT IN PUTNAM COUNTY. One of the most important accessions to the Republican party in this campaign is Frederic S. Barnum, of Putnam County. Mr. Barnum has been the leading Democratic lawyer in that county and comes from a prominent Democratic lineage. He was appointed by Governor Grover Cleveland District-Attorney of the county to fill a vacancy in 1884, and he eas repeatedly stumped the county for the Demo cratic party, but the free-trade tendencies of Cleveland and his followers were too much for him, and as he has always been a firm believer in protection for American industries he has taken the stump for Harrison and Morton and will aid in giving a majority of 800 in the county for the lie-publican ticket.

JEWELLERS BELIEVE IN PROTECTION.

The headquarters of the Jewellers' Republican Club, Room A, Benedict Building, at Broadway and Cortlandt-st., is now open, and all members of that and kindred trades should call there and add their names to those already enrolled-more than one thousand-in support of Harrison and Morton and Protection to American industry. GERMAN-AMERICAN REPUBLICANS MEET. The German-American Republicans of the Tenth Ward held a crowded and excited meeting last night at No. 108 Allen-st. Effective addresses were delivered by John E. The dimensions of the club-room were wholly inadequate to accommodate the enermous crowd which flocked in from the surrounding district, and, as a result, an overflow meeting, consisting of several hundred persons, was held in the street. J. H. Mead addressed it. A full brass band played selections of popular camther enlivened by a display of fireworks and a brilliant

MORE THOROUGH WORK AMONG THE GERMANS The German Republicans are doing quiet but extremely effective work among the Germans of this city. Their meetings have been uniformly large and enthusiastic, and the German districts are literally flooded with campaign literature. But work is to be doubled in the closing days of the campaign. Last night the Executive Comdays of the campaign. Last night the Executive Committee, of which Morris Friedsam is president, resolved on even more therough organization of the districts. Louis Jacger presided and Paul Schitzier was sceretary. Henry Loewy, Charles E. Vogel, E. Tichner, Henry Brewn, B. M. Blumenthai, Henry Lubbert, Leopoid Arnold, Colonel A. Hermann, ex-Assemblyman Windolph, August Urban and Martin Moindegen were present. A committee was amonthed to consult the National State committee was appointed to consult the National, State and County Committees to get more German speakers, so that more meetings may be held in the German districts. A mass-meeting may be held to ratify the county ticket, but it was the sense of the meeting that better results could be obtained by increasing the district meet ings. Henry Locwy said that the question of protection had taken hold of the Germans, and he believed that the 20,000 German Republicans would be solid for Harrison

COLORED MEN RECOGNIZE THEIR FRIENDS. The Colored Republican League last evening held a neeting at the Round House, in Fourth-ave., near Thirtyfourth st., and the members turned out to show their year in behalf of protection to American industries and American homes. The league of the X1th Assembly District marched to the hall with a brass band and with uniformed members bearing transparencies. When the chairman called the meeting to order the building was well filled.

P. Hampton White, president of the Colored Republican League, presided, and in a few well-chosen words introduced James P. Foster, president of the National League of Republican Clubs. Mr. Foster made a ringing speech in support of Republican principles and was frequently compelled to pause until the cheers which greeted his telltop noints subsided. A resolution advocating the renoming points subsided. A resolution advocating the renom-ination of Alderman James G. McMurray was then adopted unanimously. The Rev. Dr. W. B. Derrick was the next speaker and he aroused his audience to great enthusiasm. Dr. Derrick is a great favorite with the colored people of Dr. Derrick is a great favorite with the colored people of the city and his speeches are always listened to with the deepest interest. Able and interesting speeches were also made by S. A. McEiwee, of Tennessee, and Daniel S. Cincore, of Philadelphia. Among those occupying seats on the platform were Shedrack Cook, Lovis Townsend, R. H. Hucles, Rufus Hurbert, Rudolph Taylor, H. C. Washington and General Davis.

THE PROHIBITION VOTE IN NEW-JERSEY. DR. CARROLL, OF "THE INDEPENDENT," TELLS

WHAT HE HAS SEEN IN THAT STATE. Dr. H. K. Carroll, one of the editors of " The Independent," who has taken an active part in the reent Local Option elections in New-Jersey, having spoken at a number of meetings in the northern part of the State for Local Option, regards the outlook as especially favorable to the Republicans. The Pro-hibition vote, he believes, will show a great falling

"If I were at liberty to name those who have formerly voted the Prohibition ticket who I know will vote for Harrison and Morton this year it would cause much sur-The reason of the change is apparent. Most of the Prohibitionists were Republicans, and if Demo-crats they voted with the Third party on principle. They thought that they had nothing to expect from either of the old parties. When the Republican party took the step toward Local Option they regarded it as a simple party measure, and their leaders who were interested personally in holding them together, and 'The Voice,' the party organ, called out 'fraud' and 'farce' and other names to that effect. Now the men who voted the Prohibition ticket are learning that the Republican party means just what the law says, and the Prohibition party in New-Jersey, I think, is going to pieces, having served its purpos

"In Warren County, a Democratic county gave Cleveland 2,000 majority, Local Option has a majority of 1,100. In Bound Brook there was a strong Prohibition club four years ago. It has gone to pieces and many of its members are in the Harrison and Morton Club of that place. In North Plainfield in 1886 there were fifty-two Prohibition votes cast; in 1887 only twenty-six, and this fail, I think, the number will be reduced to thirteen or even less. These are not isolated facts, but are applicable, I am satisfied, to the entire State, while something of the same influence and from the same cause—the position of the Republican party in regard to liquor-selling—is likely, from what I hear, to be the result through New-York State.

ACTIVE NEWARK REPUBLICANS.

GOOD MEETING LAST NIGHT-FORMING A DRY-GOODS CLUB.

Governor Beaver, of Pennsylvania, and Congre nan Lehlbach, of New-Jersey, addressed an immenso meeting of Republicans in the Roseville Rink, at Newark, last night. The boasting of the Democratic pa pers over the barren results of the recent charter election seemed to have acted as a tonic to Republican interest, for at 8 o'clock every street leading to the rink was thronged with eager Republicans, and undreds were unable to get admittance. The platform was occupied by leading Republican citizens. Governor Beaver was enthusiastically greeted when he appeared on the platform, and his speech was listened to with the most profound attention, being interrupted at intervals by applause. Congressman Lehlbach was also warmly received. He ridiculed the claim of victory for the Democrats in the charter election, and their hysterical but simulated joy over i virtual defeat. Two hundred and fifty dry-goods men and other siness men of Newark, most of whom never before took any active interest in politics, held a meeting at No. 870 Broad-st, last night, and organized a Dry-Goods Harrison and Morton Club. The meeting was adjourned to Monday night, when permanent officers will be elected, and the roll opened for further signatures.

HOW THE "EMERGENCY" ORDER WORKS. DISCHARGING REPUBLICAN LABORERS FROM THE BROOKLYN NAVY YARD.

Secretary Whitney's "emergency" order, which suspends the statutory law prohibiting the increase of workingmen at any Navy Yard within sixty days prior to an election for President or members of Congress, "except when the needs of the public service require such increase," is working to the satisfaction of the Democratic politicians of New-York and Brooklyn. Not only has it permitted a large increase of the lal orers' force at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, but it has enabled the politicians to continue picking out those poor working only because they are tainted with the policy of protection to American industries and American work-On Thursday seven men were discharged who had been "spotted" by those who had overheard them remark that it was the duty of every workingman to uphold the system of protection to American labor and American products as against foreign labor and foreign goods.

They were at onee put on the list as Republicans, were discharged without warning and others filled their places yesterday, who had pledged themselves to vote for Cleveland and Hill. When the discharged men asked why they were dismissed they were told:
"You are not wanted at this time, so go!" One of the men replied: "It is evident why our services are no longer required, and is significant when we consider the fact that the force is being increased at this time. But Congress would do the people a good service by demanding to know the special hurry in the completion of the monitors Miantonomah and Terror. The Secretary in a recent report on the Terror. The secretary in a recent report on the mointors said that he did not see the necessity for spending money upon them; that a first-class modern iron-clad could safely anchor surrounded by a fleet of these monitors and be in no danger of injury to herself. The Secretary also said: 'It is not desirable to order work begun upon these vessels until they can be pushed to completion.' But the desirable time to begin has come."

CROWDS GAZE AT S. S. COX'S NAME. The public interest in the package of Democratic ampaign documents bearing Congressman 6. Cox's frank seems to be unabated. During the rain storm yesterday morning the crowd in front of The Tribune counting room window was as large as ever. Thousands of cople gazed at the exhibit of corruption in openmouthed wonderment, as they first beheld this crushing bit of evidence. After reading the notices attached to the package, and comprehending fully the enormity of the crime and the complete chain of evidence pointing to the guilty persons, scornful smiles overspread many faces and sharp comments were heard about this piece of rascality.

"What'll you take in cash for that package?" queried one pained-looking man. "It looks as though Cox was in a corner," remarked another.

Pedestrians along Spruce-st. stopped and read the bulletin directing attention to the Nassau-st. exhibit. The readers invariably hastened to the front of The Tribune Building to behold this evidence of fraud.

TO RATIFY THE COUNTY TICKET DOWNTOWN. The first of a serious of daily meetings under the aspices of the downtown business men was held yestorday afternoon at No. 5 Broadway. The large hall. which will be open for campaign purposes until election day, was filled with an enthusiastic crowd of business men and workingmen. A. R. Whitney presided, and those assembled had the pleasure of listening to earnest and forcible speeches on the issues involved in the campaign from Jeremiah Murphy, Edward Fitzwilliams, and J. M. Lyman, of Cleveland. The singing, in which all joined most heartily, was led by Professor A. J. Adams and A. H. Sykes, whose services in that direction have materially assisted in that feature of the campaign at the Dry-Goods Club meetings and elsewhere. To day the county ticket will be ratified, and eminent speakers will be present. HENRY D. PIERCE ON INDIANA POLITICS.

One of the many lifelong Democrats of Indiana who are helping to carry the State for General Harrison, is Henry D. Pierce. He was formerly a law partner of Senator Turple, is a nephew of Vice-President Hendricks, and was for a time Assistant United States District-Attorney of his State. Mr. Pierce has been in the East doing telling work for the Republican party. He started last night for the West, but he found time to say that he found an increase of enthusiasm in New-Hampshire, where he stumped for Cleveland and Hendricks. In regard to Indiana, he said that he had received important information from an industrial source. In the last year or so Indiana has developed a natural gas region not paralleled elsewhere. Thousands of mechanics, laborers, German Democrats of the VII manufacturers and capitalists have been pouring into that region, and a Democrat tells Mr. Pierce that he is appalled by the unanimity of sentiment for protection among those new citizens who have gone lican States as Ohio and Ponnsylvania into Indiana. "Does any one suppose that these newcomers in manufacturing towns and gas regions will vote to close industries and stop work!" said Mr. Pierce. "Indiana is a Republican State."

HILL "WORKERS" PAID BY THE STATE. FACTORY INSPECTORS WHO ARE ACTING AS

"HEELERS" WILL SUFFER FOR IT. There is every probability that the actions "heelers," who are supposed to be employed by the State for public purposes, will result in a Legislative inquiry next winter; there will be an inquiry, at any rate, if there is a Republican majority in the Assembly, and the present outfook is that the i morrats there will be decidedly lonely at the real session for want of company. sids of the Governor are on the salary list of the State as Factory Inspectors and Arbitration Commissioners. But the greater portion of their time has been spent in the last three months working the State for Hill, and drawing from the State Treasury money for expenses and salaries. It is the same set of men who tried to run the Labor Convention at Troy, but were beaten by the honesty of the lafter men who met there in convention a short time ago.

In this affair they followed the instructions of William H. Murtha, chairman of the Democratic State Executive Committee, and they are now working hard for Hill. As factory inspectors they have the right to go into all the factories of the State, and if anything is done contrary to the letter of the law, their complaints can cause a manufacturer an enormous amount of trouble. They are trying by threats an amount of trouble. They are trying by threats and various forms of intimidation to keep quiet those manufacturers and factory owners who are working for the Republican candidates. But the course which has been followed by them is likely to get them in trouble before the winter is over. They are being carouily watched, evidence against them is being accumulated by responsible presons, and charges which are likely to result not only in dismissal, but also in more severe punishment, will undoubtedly be brought.

lovernor Hill, of New-York, agreed to spend in Indiana in the interest of Cleveland and Thurman wil State at 9 o'clock this morning and at the same hour to-night he had spoken to crowds in eight towns. The programme to-morrow embraces nearly as much work. WHY GENERAL GRANT WAS A REPUBLICAN. Boston, Mass., Oct. 12 (Special).-A gentleman of this city has the following lines in the bandwriting of General U. S. Grant, written and signed by him in 1880. The reason therein cited for being a Republican is as pertinent to-day as eight years ago:

There is not a precinct in this vast Nation where a Democrat cannot cast his ballot and have it counted as cast, no matter what the predominance of the opposite party. He can proclaim his political opinions, even if he is one among thousands, without fear and without pro-scription on account of his opinions. There are fourteen States, and localities in some others, where Republicans have not this privilege. This is one reason why I am a U. S. GRANT. Republican.

MORE OF CLEVELAND'S REFORM. A letter-carrier has been appointed this year in the city of Hoboken (50,000 inhabitants) who delivers letters and papers, but can scarcely read or write. He will call at a house and hold out a whole handful of letters for the occupant to pick out his own He caused so much trouble for the uptown people of Hoboken that he has been transferred to the Meadow District. Of course he has a political pull.

GEN. HARRISON AT HOME

AN EMINENT JUDGE'S OPINION OF HIM.

WHAT SOME OF HIS POLITICAL OPPONENTS HAVE SAID OF HIM PUBLICLY.

Indianapolis, Oct. 12 (Special).-I met Judge Lewis C. Walker, of the Superior Court, here the other day, and in speaking of General Harrison he said: "I regard General Harrison as one of the ablest lawyers and one of the most straightforward, honest, pure men I know of. For twenty-five years I have been among lawyers constantly—for many years on the bench here—and during that time I have known General Harrison and have had ample opportunity to observe him and to form an opinion of him. He has practised in my court, and, without in any way disparaging any other nember of the bar or making any individual comparisons, I must say that professionally he is without rival here or elsewhere in the State. I have never known another lawyer, on the bench or at the bar, who, in all the characteristics which pertain to great lawyer, so fully touched the circle at every point and filled it so completely. I think, too, we have some lawyers here who are as able as any you will find in other States; yet I do not hesitate to place General Harrison at the head of them all. I do not say this because he is a candidate for the Presidency; have said it before, and often, and I think my opinion is that which prevails here. "As a lawyer, General Harrison is wonderfully clear and logical. He is simple and straightforward always. He never descends to anything like trickery, and never takes an unfair advantage. He is a model lawyer, just as he is a model man. Socially, he is an affable, diguified gentleman, and one of the most amiable men I know. There is no taint of selfishness in his disposition, and there is no suggestion of the aristocrat about him. He is a man one admires more thoroughly the longer and better he knows him. This is not a culogy of General Harrison; it is a plain statement of my deliberate judgment of the man.

"If General Harrison is elected to the Presidency and lives to fill out his term, I believe that in states manship his Administration will compare with the Administrations of Lincoln, Grant and Gardeld. His public addresses indicate what we may expect from whatever he promises, that we may expect him to carry out. He is not a man who talks for talk's sake. What he says he means, and what he means we can depend upon. He is firm as a rock in his convictions, yet he is not at all an obstinate man. He is one of the most reasonable men I know. The terms 'honest' and 'faithful' I think were made for just such a man as General Harrison. The whole Republican party couldn't prevail upon him to do a dishonorable act, If it tried. If his accession to the Presidency depend ed upon any departure from the line of strict rectitude he has marked out for himself, he would turn from the office rather than from his rule of right. This country will never have to reproach him for a promise violated or a public trust abused."

eral George F. McGinness, a prominent realestate dealer, in speaking of General Harrison said: "You will notice that there are no personal attacks directed upon him by the Democrats; his character and standing here are beyond discussion. Not one word of reproach can truthfully be uttered concerning his private, public or professional life. No man in the Vation stands higher among people who know him. Even the Democrats here who give countenance to the circulation of the alleged sayings of General Harrison concerning the strikes and wages for workingmen, will not father these statements. Not one respectable Democrat will tell you he believes them. They know he never made such statements, and they make great mistake in circulating them-a mistake that will wooll upon their own party."

When the Democrats held their ratification meeting in Indianapolis, on July 14, the Republican nomina-tions and platform were discussed. Hear what that old-time Democrat, William H. English—the candidate for the Vice-Presidency on the ticket with General Hancock-had to say concerning General Harrison and the political outlook. This extract is taken from the report of the speech published the day after its delivery, in "The Indianapolis Sentinel," the Democratic organ here. Mr. English said: "You will observe, fellow-citizens, that I have nothing against General Harrison personally. He has traits of character I admire. He is an earnest man, true to his convictions. not afraid to speak his opinions, and he is in no sense a hypocrite. It is only of Benjamin Harrison as the chosen champion and representative of Republican principles that I choose to speak. He has always been a bitter partisan of that faith, and because of his zeal and devotion to that party, is justly a favorite with the Republican politicians of this State. When that is said, all is said that can be, for he is certainly not a favorite with any other political organization. He has not the slightest claim for the support of any Democrat."

Democrat."

This last sentence seems to indicate the fear in Mr. English's mind that some Lemicrats would be apt to come over to General Harrison. He pays tributes to the General for his faithfulness to his party and also in the implication that he is not a man who truckles to in the implication that he is not a man who truckles to or bargains with other parties. But Mr. English continues: "The Democrats are going to have a desperate fight this year. They should not overrate their own strength, nor undertrate the strength of the Republicans. General Harrison I believe to be a good man, but the party deserves to be defeated."

At the same meeting Governor Gray made a speech, in which he warned the Democrats not to underestimate the struggle that is going on this year. Following him, ex-senator Joseph McDonald, a prominent Democratic worker, said:

"Our Republican friends have congratulated themselves that now, at least, having selected for their standard-bearer a citizen of Indiana, and a man against whom, of course, no one will express any opinion except as to his politics, they are going to carry the State.

As to General Harrison, I have no hard words to say of him. Personalty, I respect him, he is my neighbor. But, fellow-citizens, he is a Republican, with all that that term implies."

Of relics of the 1844 campaign, Cornelius Van Ness, of

No. 319 Lenex-ave., has found one, which has been used as a bookmark in the family Bible ever since that time. It is a badge of the Ninth Ward Protective Tariff men, worn at a "mass convention of the Democratic Clay Clubs" in New-York City, October 30, 1844, and bearing a picture of Henry Clay addressing labor on the subject of the tariff. Unless all signs fail, Democratic workers are taking as lively an interest in the protective tariff as they did in the eider Harrison's time, and one as disastrous to the party of free trade.
